Capitalized terms used but not otherwise defined in this Amendment shall have the meanings ascribed to such terms in the Schedule 13D. Except as otherwise provided herein, each Item of the Schedule 13D remains unchanged.

Item 2. Identity and Background.

The information set forth in Annex A and amended Item 5 is incorporated by reference herein.

Item 4. Purpose of Transaction.

Item 4 is hereby amended and supplemented by adding the following at the end thereof:

Dell Technologies is exploring potential alternatives with respect to its ownership interest in VMware, Inc. (“VMware” or the “Issuer”), including a potential spin-off of that ownership interest to Dell Technologies’ stockholders that is intended to qualify as generally tax-free for U.S. federal income tax purposes to Dell Technologies and its stockholders (such transaction, a “Spin-off”). Although this process is currently only at an exploratory stage, Dell Technologies believes a Spin-off could benefit both Dell Technologies’ and VMware’s stockholders by simplifying capital structures and enhancing strategic flexibility, while still maintaining a mutually beneficial strategic and commercial partnership. Dell Technologies also continues to evaluate a range of strategic options, including maintaining the status quo with respect to its ownership interest in VMware.

As part of its exploration of a potential Spin-off, Dell Technologies expects to explore, and if it determines advisable, seek to negotiate and agree to, certain terms and conditions related to such Spin-off with a special committee of the Board of Directors of VMware (the “VMware Special Committee”) and the approval of the Board of Directors of VMware. Dell Technologies expects that in any such discussions, it would seek to negotiate the payment of a special cash dividend by VMware, which would be paid substantially concurrently with the Spin-off on a pro rata basis to all VMware stockholders. In the event VMware were to pay such a dividend, Dell Technologies expects that VMware would fund such dividend in part through the incurrence of new indebtedness. Dell Technologies expects that, in such event, it would use its pro rata portion of the proceeds from any such special cash dividend to repay outstanding debt of Dell Technologies and for general corporate purposes. In any potential Spin-off, it is important to Dell Technologies that both VMware and Dell Technologies have appropriate capital structures immediately following any Spin-off. Accordingly, in any negotiation relating to a potential Spin-off with VMware and the VMware Special Committee, Dell Technologies’ goal would be to (1) maintain VMware’s credit rating of investment grade and (2) improve Dell Technologies’ credit rating at, or shortly following consummation of, the Spin-off. However, Dell Technologies can give no assurance that any specific ratings would ultimately be obtained for either company in the event of a Spin-off.

Dell Technologies also expects that any discussions with respect to a Spin-off would address the further formalization of certain mutually beneficial existing arm’s-length commercial arrangements that reflect the close operating relationship currently in place, including go-to-market, services, research and development, and intellectual property agreements, between Dell Technologies and VMware to provide for ongoing strategic benefits and continued support for customers of both companies following a Spin-off.

If Dell Technologies and VMware were to enter into negotiations and reach agreement on terms and conditions with respect to a potential Spin-off and such a Spin-off were to be consummated, Dell Technologies’ stockholders would separately own shares directly in both Dell Technologies and in VMware. Any potential Spin-off would not occur prior to September 2021.

There can be no assurance that any discussions among Dell Technologies, VMware, the VMware Special Committee and their respective representatives with respect to a potential Spin-off will result in the entry into definitive agreements concerning a Spin-off or, if such definitive agreements were to be reached, that they would reflect terms consistent with those described above or would result in the consummation of the Spin-off transactions provided for in such definitive agreements. Discussions concerning a potential Spin-off and related matters may be terminated at any time by Dell Technologies or VMware.
